

Channel settings for a channel owner

Channel settings give you access your channel's email address, customize your channel's look, and perform other channel maintenance functions.

To view and configure channel settings, click the gear icon in the toolbar.

General tab

Channel settings

General Customization Operations

Channel name
SiteBuild Accounting

Channel description Optional
Team discussion channel for Accounting department

Permissions

Require approval before user joins channel via link

Allow users to see channel contents before joining

Save

Allow users to join channel with a link Create Link

Anyone with the link can join your channel. They will need to create an AirSend account to join. You can disable this link at any time.

Your email address for this channel Copy Email

sitebuild-accounting+usr-449shx14@airsendmz

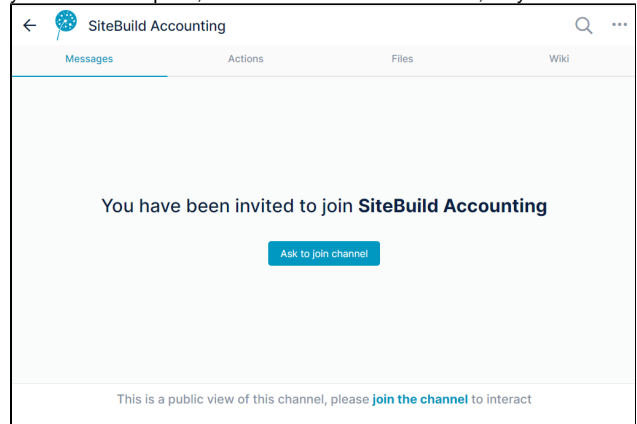

You can send messages and attachments to this channel by sending an email to this email address.

Channel name - Initially, the name that you gave the channel when you create it, but you may change it. If you change the name, click the Enter key or Save to save it.

Channel description - Optional description of channel.

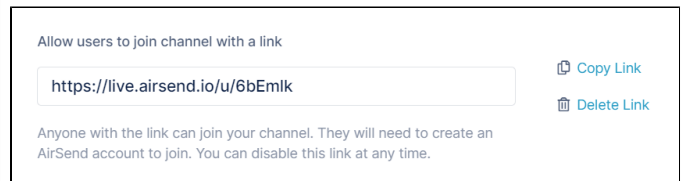

Permissions

- Require approval before user joins channel via link - If you share the channel with users by sending them a link to the channel (see Public channels), by default, they can join the channel by accessing it (and creating an AirSend account if they do not already have one). If you check this option, when new users enter the link, they see:

- Allow users to see channel contents before joining - If you share the channel with users by sending them a link to the channel by default, they can join the channel by accessing it (and creating an AirSend account if they do not already have one). If you check this option, when new users enter the link, they see:

Allow users to join channel with a link - This option enables you to publish a link that users can click to join the channel. Click Create Link to generate and view the link. Click Copy Link to copy it into a web page or other location. (A channel that users join by click a link is a Public channel).

Your email address for this channel - Members of the channel can send messages and attachments to the channel at this email address. When the channel sends messages to users, this is the sending address. Click Copy to copy the email address.

Customization tab

Background - Click anywhere on the background icon and upload a background image to appear in the message section of the channel screen. Click Change background.

Logo - Click anywhere on the logo icon and upload a thumbnail image to represent the channel. Click Change Logo.

When the example customization is applied, the channel appears as:

Operations tab

Export Channel - Click Export to export a zip file containing the contents (files, wiki, actions, and messages) of the channel.

Close Channel - Click Close to inactivate the channel so it no longer appears on your AirSend dashboard when you are viewing Active Channels, but remains in your system so you can re-activate it. See closing and re-activating a channel for more information.

Delete Channel - Click Delete to permanently delete a channel.