How to stream video to iPhone iPad or iPod?

Let us say you have a large video and movie collection in your PC and watch it in your iPhone and iPad one needs to perform couple of actions:

1. Convert your video collection to iOS compatible video formats like mp4 and mpeg (iOS supports the playback of movie files with the `.mov`, `.mp4`, `.m4v`, and `.3gp` filename extensions)
2. Sync the converted video files with your iPhone and iPad using iTunes and watch the videos using your iPhone media player.

 But in case you have no time to convert videos and don't have enough space in your iPhone and iPad this approach is not going to work.

Fortunately, Tonido iOS app can provide a solution for this video streaming problem. Using Tonido iOS app one can stream videos from PC (Windows, Mac and Linux) to iPhone and iPad. Not only that, Tonido iOS app also performs live video conversion of most video formats (.mkv, .vob, .avi and others) to iPhone and iPad compatible video formats in real time. Tonido iOS app also works both in WiFi and Cell (3G, 4G and LTE) connection. In short, you can watch your videos from Anywhere!

FAQ

How Tonido iOS app is different from Air Video, Airplay It and Others?

Most iPhone and iPad video streaming apps only work within LAN. If you want to access the videos remotely, you need to open the port in your router and get a dynamic ip from a dns provider.

With Tonido you don't need to any of these steps. Tonido provides a simple URL (yourname.tonidoid.com) to access your computer from anywhere. You also don't need to muck with your router and open your router to get remote access.

How much does Tonido Desktop software cost?
